"What makes the difference is the vision that we carry as mayors and local governments, but also the support and collaboration that cities and municipalities can contribute to discussions like this. It is at the heart of climate action..."

Hon. Mohammed Adjei Sowah
Mayor of Accra, Ghana
Board Member, Global Covenant of Mayors for Climate & Energy
Covenant of Mayors in Sub-Saharan Africa

What are the objectives?

• Increase sustainable energy access, and support local climate action.
• Localise NDCs and Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), empower local authorities, initiate local action.
• Improve institutional frameworks, and local authorities’ technical and resource mobilisation capacities.
• Promote political ownership and good practice dissemination.
What is the initiative’s objective?

Promote the development, implementation and monitoring of Sustainable Energy Access and Climate Action Plans (SEACAPs) by and for the cities of Sub-Saharan African cities in order to fight against climate change.
What are the benefits for Sub-Saharan African cities?

- Access to good practices and knowledge exchange activities
- Capacity building and technical support on planning and implementation of climate and sustainable energy action
- Access to decentralized cooperation mechanisms
- Improved international visibility of climate and energy actions carried out by cities in sub-Saharan Africa
Ambitions for Sub-Saharan African cities

- Participate in the mitigation of climate change and realising its co-benefits for citizens
- Adapting to the negative effects of climate change
- Improve access to sustainable, affordable and secure energy.

What is the approach?

- Engage with key stakeholders to understand local context’s needs and opportunities.
- Develop local capacity, ensuring that the work is relevant, context-specific and serves the most vulnerable.
- Enhance dialogue between national and sub-national levels.
- Foster institutional cooperation.
A strong political engagement
